Text

From line 8 to 15:

~~In such a situation, it is not a surprise that many of us have been searching for solutions that differ from those that lead us to this pan-European multicrisis. When the state and the classic political parties turn their backs to us, we searched for alternatives. It is then when we need to understand that those who lost everything due to the multiple crisis found hope in the far-right parties. They promised protection against every devil: protectionism for economic liberalization, nationalism for uncontrolled globalization, white supremacy for migration, fuel subsidies for maintaining carbon jobs.~~
The continuation of neoliberal policies and the lack of democracy at the European level are only some of the causes that led people to consider the false solutions proposed by the far right.
