R2 A3: Younger institutions for a greener future

Proposers Greens of England & Wales

Motion text

From line 4 to 6:

seems our ideas and proposals will only be relevant when we are not young anymore. The ~~young~~under 35 population is underrepresented in our parliaments and in the decision-making processes. The reluctance to a generational change means the

From line 69 to 71:

- Parties need to have a percentage of ~~young and diverse~~under 35 candidates and people from a mix of different identity characteristics including, but not limited to, ethnicity, gender identity, socio-economic status and disability. (15-20%)
- FYEG can push green parties to have this mandatory percentage so they are really progressive.[Space]

Reason
making it clearer what we mean