strikes on Al-Wahda Street in Gaza City and the al-Shati refugee camp (Human Rights Watch, 2021). At the same time, Palestinian-nationalists' and Palestinian-islamists' violence against Israelis has also been marked by acts of brutality. Examples of violence are attacks on Israelis through kidnappings, bombings and attacks, namely through the Palestinian Liberation Organization and more recently by Hamas on the 7th of October of 2023. We do not see these organizations as representatives of Palestinians as a whole, but note that these acts have also played into the dynamic of the conflict. Furthermore, we also note that Palestinian national conflicts have largely been instrumentalised by many countries in the region.

Reason

It is important to also highlight violence against Israelis by Palestinian-nationalists and Palestinian-islamists, who are not representative for Palestinians as a whole, but have largely influenced the dynamics of the conflicts. It is also important how these attacks have also been instrumentalised by many countries in the region.
