Across the globe ~~from Belarus and Myanmar to Hong Kong, Turkey and Iran,~~ student activists face severe persecution for their efforts to promote human rights,

Reason

With this change, FYEG recognizes that young people, especially students, are particularly vulnerable to political repression in our fight for democracy, human rights and the right to education, without giving the geographic location where this repression takes place. Additionally, a large number of students in the West suffered the same problem due to different battles, one of them is the battle for Palestine, and the idea of this is to recognize the efforts of all of us wherever we live, not necessarily in the geographical region mentioned in the original text.
