Motion text

on sexual diversity are still not widely implemented over the EU, and faces a conservative push against it. ~~For instance, a recent policy under the Meloni government in Italy sought to ban sex education, ultimately restricting it to requiring parental consent.~~ Sex education should be accessible to all and from a young age, starting with emotional awareness and consent, respecting each other

Reason

While we recognise the massive damage the Meloni government has done to Italy, and this amandment is in no way supporting it; we also recognise that this is the only example in the whole text. As such for the sake of consistency, as well as due to the fact that education is such a wide-ranging topic, we consider it strategic to remove the singluar example.
