R4 AM15: Protecting International Law Against Empires: to Infinity and Beyond

Proposers Executive Committee

Motion text

Insert from line 42 to 43:

a few states and corporations, benefiting dominant actors while harming smaller states, marginalised communities, and future generations. To ensure this system continues, corporations, often working hand in hand with imperialist countries, are attacking the democracies of the Global South through covert actions, coups, and financial and political support for authoritarian candidates.

Reason

This amendment makes clearer that imperialism is also maintained through corporate influence and attacks on democratic processes, particularly in the Global South. It shows how covert actions, coups, and support for authoritarian actors help preserve unequal power structures, adding important context to how imperial systems operate in practice.
